

We've been lucky to have another year of growth in terms of cub numbers, reaching a height of 23 members thanks to steady transitions up from the beaver section and some new starters. We've been able to run a varied programme with the support of our two young leaders, both of whom have adapted well to more children in the section and who have enjoyed taking the lead in running various activities.

We've experimented with science, learnt about fire safety and other cultures, made oatcakes (both Scottish and Staffordshire!) and worked on our communication and navigation. When they are able to move up to the scout section, our three oldest cubs will have completed their silver awards.

In March, 14 cubs attended the cub activity day at Kibblestone Scout Camp, taking part in activities such as climbing, pond dipping and archery to name a few.

While we're not able to meet at the moment, cubs are still engaging in badge work whilst they are at home and it's great to see them helping around the home, doing gardening and pursuing other interests.

We're looking forward to seeing all the cubs again soon!
